A Few Plain Facts.

We desire to submit a few plain facts to the consideration of all peace-loving and law-abiding citszens. It developed on Culton's trial for bail that before Goebel's body could be removed from the spot where he fell the words, "The Riot has commenced. Send 500 men," were flashed by Judge Denny from Frankfort to Postmaster Perry here, and to other Republican leaders at a dozen other towns. This was done when Denny knew that not a shot had been fired or a hostile demonstration made by a Democrat. Ought not the life of Goebel satisfied their blood thirstiness?. The two words, "All Right", flashed by Collier to Col. Williams at Lexington and to Cols. Mengel and Grey at Louisville, started all the soldiers in the State to Frankfort on special trains. In contrast with this war like conduct on the part of the Republican leaders, the Democratic leaders were telegraphing their friends all over the State to keep quiet and stay away from Frankfort.

A half dozen or more witnesses, the majority of whom were then holding offices in the executive building, testified that the shot was fired from the office of the Secretary of State. John L. Powers, when notified in Louisville and asked if any "other rats" had fled from Frankfort, replied, "Caleb Powers and Walter Day also in Louisville"

Mathews, Caleb Power's assistant swore that just after the shot was fired he climbed through the transom into Power's office, and found the main door locked and bolted on the inside, and a riffe at each of the three windows over looking the spot where Goebel fell. He said that Taylor issued pardons to Culton, John Powers, Finley and Whittaker, as well as to Caleb Powers and Capt. Davis, on whom pardons were found when they were arrested in Lexington. The soldiers at the arsenal in Frankfort had orders to don their uniforms, equip themselves with arms and were held in readiness to march an hour before Goebel was shot-

Caleb Powers told Golden that Taylor had said he would pardon the men that killed Goebel. Speaker Trimble and two of the Judges of the Court of Appeals were also to have been killed. Bradley had learned of the plot to kill Goebel, but instead of giving it publicly, quietly protested and advised Golden that he "had better go and see Charley Finley, Bill Culton and Caleb Powers and tell them not to let that be

At Bradley's request Wade Skidto re, of Hardin-county, was selected sit behind Willard Mitchell with intructions to kill him if he put his hand in his pocket -and these are the enders of the God and Morality party in Kentucky.-Winchestr Democrat,

Returning home, he engaged in teaching school in Russell and Adair counties till the civil war began, when he entered the volunteer service and enlisted in company B of the 13th Kentucky Infantry. He was orderly sergeant of his company, and served for three years in the campaigns of ida for about six months, returned Tennessee and Georgia. After the close of the war, he married Helena Bradshaw and went West, settling in J. H. Paxton, who has been very low Jackson county, Kansas. After living there five years, he returned to Kentucky and located in the neighborhood in which he was born, where he died, April 30, 1900.

The deceased was not a man who live as an humble, obscure citizen. But his conception of life was of the most exalted character, and he lived up to the measure of his conception. He never sat in the assembly of the great, he was never thrilled by admiring multitudes, shouts of praise; his name was never heralded abroad: he cared not for such things, but he was known to his family and friends as a man who never entertained a dishonest thought, who was absolutely temperate, whose life was never polluted by an act of impurity, who was kind and charitable and who reverenced God with every fiber of his heart.

He believed that to live, is to walk in the footsteps of the Nazarine, and so consistently did he live that he built for himself a character that commands the respect of the Gret God Himself.

'Soothed and sustained by an unfaltering trust,

He approached his grave like one who wraps the drapery of his couch about him.

The ancients believed that rheumatism was the work of a demon within a man. Any one who has had an attack of sciatic or inflamatory rheumatism will agree that the infliction is demoniacenough to warrant the belief. It has never been claimed that Chamberlain's Pain Balm would cast out de mons, but it will cure rheumatism and hundreds bear testimony to the truth of this statement. One application relieves the pain, and this quick relief which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. For sale by M.
